

list picker

A single inline list picker lets the user pick a single item from a list of potential options. The user launches the picker from one of the entry points. Once the picker expands, the user taps on an item to select it. The list picker is then closed and returns the user to the previous screen. An inline list picker can have up to 5 items.

INLINE LIST PICKER
Entry points and touch interaction states

INLINE LIST PICKER
Shown expanded with disabled and preselected items